Creel, Rita

Rita Creel is a member of the Acquisition Support Program at the Software Engineering Institute, where she leads a team dedicated to advising and assisting members of the intelligence community in the acquisition of software-intensive systems.